5. We may process information contained in or relating to any communication that you send to us (“correspondence data”). The correspondence data may include the communication content and metadata associated with the communication. The correspondence data may be processed for the purposes of communicating with you and record-keeping. The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interests, namely the proper administration of our website and business and communications with users.
6. We may process any of your personal data identified in this policy where necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in an administrative or out-of-court procedure. The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interests, namely the protection and assertion of our legal rights, your legal rights and the legal rights of others.
7. We may process any of your personal data identified in this policy where necessary for the purposes of obtaining or maintaining insurance coverage, managing risks, or obtaining professional advice. The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interests, namely the proper protection of our business against risks.
8. In addition to the specific purposes for which we may process your personal data set out in this Section, we may also process any of your personal data where such processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject, or in order to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of another natural person.
9. Your personal data is not subject of automated decision-making, including profiling.
10. Please do not supply any other person’s personal data to us, unless we prompt you to do so.

§ 5 Providing your personal data to others

1. We may disclose your personal data to our insurers and/or professional advisers insofar as reasonably necessary for the purposes of obtaining or maintaining insurance coverage, managing risks, obtaining professional advice, or the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in an administrative or out-of-court procedure.
2. We will disclose full name, email address, position and organization to our supplier (event platform) in order to provide participants with access to the platform and enable them to access all the functionalities of the service’.

3. Information that you provide to us for the purpose of subscribing to our email notifications and/or newsletters (“notification data”) may be handled by our marketing automation platform, Mailchimp. We will share notification data with our marketing automation platform only to the extent necessary for the purposes of sending you relevant notifications and/or newsletters. You can find information about the marketing automation platform’s privacy policies and practices at <https://mailchimp.com/legal/>.
4. In addition to the specific disclosures of personal data set out in this Section, we may disclose your personal data where such disclosure is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject, or in order to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of another natural person. We may also disclose your personal data where such disclosure is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in an administrative or out-of-court procedure.

§ 6 International transfers of your personal data

§ 8 Retaining and deleting personal data

1. Personal data that processed for any purpose or purposes shall not be kept for longer than is necessary for that purpose or those purposes.
2. The Organizer will retain your personal data as follows: first name, last name, gender, area of residence, position, organization, email address, country, for a period of five years, due to the European Union's Horizon Europe Framework Program, following the date in which you provide the data to us.
3. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Section, we may retain your personal data where such retention is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject, or in order to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of another natural person.

§ 9 Your rights

You have the right to lodge a complaint, when you consider that the processing of your personal data violates the provisions of the GDPR, to the President of the Office for Data Protection (or the supervisory authority dealing with the protection of personal data in another country, in particular in the Member State of your habitual residence, place of work or place committing the alleged infringement. The list of competent authorities for the Member States can be found here: https://www.dlapiperdataprotection.com/index.html?t=authority&c=PL&c2=)).

§ 10 About cookies

1. A cookie is a file containing an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that is sent by a web server to a web browser and is stored by the browser. The identifier is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.
2. Cookies may be either “persistent” cookies or “session” cookies: a persistent cookie will be stored by a web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date, unless deleted by the user before the expiry date; a session cookie, on the other hand, will expire at the end of the user session, when the web browser is closed.
3. Cookies do not typically contain any information that personally identifies a user, but personal information that we store about you may be linked to the information stored in and obtained from cookies.

§ 11 Final terms

1. In case of questions or claims related to the conduct of the Event, please contact the Operator by e-mail to info@agrifood.it. Complaints will be considered within 14 (fourteen) days from the date of their receipt.
2. The participant of the Event shall not use any solution presented during the Event in its own economic activities (including advising to other entities).
3. The legal acts in force in the Republic of Lithuania are applicable to the rights and obligations arising from these Terms.
4. These Terms shall be valid from 27.09.2023.
